

Celebrating a diverse community

Star Weekly photographer Damjan Janevski visited the Pride in the North exhibition at the Gallery at Sunbury Hume Global Learning Centre.

The exhibition presents artworks from Hume's diverse LGBTIQA+ community, including work from visual artist Michelle Venne-Rowe.

Other works were made as part of self-expression workshops celebrating sexuality and gender identity for IDAHOBIT: The International Day Against LGBTIQA+ discrimination in 2022 and 2023.

Contributors range in age from secondary school students to adults.

The exhibition is on display until Sunday, July 14.
